WILSON WANTS NO

Indianapolis, Oct. 12 .-'Talking through the hat' ought to be a dead industry, declared President Wilson in his speech here to-night.

"Every man," continued the President, "ought to have as a motto over the stage from which he speaks these simple and familiar words: 'Put up or shut up.' I am ready to take my own medicine: if I don't put up I am ready to shut up.

Post Office Inspectors Fitch and Shay

Post Office Inspectors Filen and Shey, who took Hawley from Nyack, have admitted he made no confession.

From the day after the mail robbery 1943 in Lake George until Hawley reached 1,018 New York in Federal custody, his atory and that of Agnes Elliott are 1,597 closely woven together. The woman story and that of Agnes Elliott livelessly woven together. The woman Secret Service agent appeared at Lake George on August 23, and—by a grim irony—took up her quarters at the number hotel owned by the father of the young woman to whom young Hawley has been attentive for three years. At the St. George, which they reached on Saturday morning, they registered separately, but occupied adjoining rooms, the hotel register shows. Sunday afternoon they drank together, it is said, at the St. George, and on Monday. September 25, they went together to New York City, that night occupying adjoining rooms at a Broadway hotel hear Thirty-fourth Street. Not until the woman agent left him in the Federal Building, after he had been taken to New York to be arrested, could Hawley be convinced that she had been in the employ of the Postoffice Department. "The inspectors say I displayed considerable capital after the robbery. I can show, when my case comes up, where I got every cent I have spent this summer. I was lucky at the races in Saratoga, and a business enterprise in which I was interested was successful. But another question: Would the man who pulled off that robbery appear the day after with lots of money to spend? I'd hate to think he would have been that stupid.

Postoffice inspectors suspected Hawley in connection with the mail pouch robbery, it develops here, for three reasons: First, the car from which the pouch disappeared was halted in front of his home; second, he bad been a postoffice employe for thirteen years and knew how the First National Bank sent its money, and, third, he appeared pientifully supplied with funds immediately after the robbery. Hawley gave his own answer to these grounds for suspicion to-day.

"Is there any man in the world," he asked, "so simple as to rob a car while it was stopped in front of his own home! That would be as absurd as a pickpocket bringing a victim into his own lodgings and rifing his pockets there.

"I was, as is pointed out, in the post-office here for many years with my father, and often made up the mail pouch with the bank's funds. But when I left the office, in the middle of the summer, my knowledge of what was going on in the office ceased.
